—A man named Cameron, living at Lake View, won the buckboard raffled off at Cagwin & Noteware's last evening, with a throw of 44.

—A couple of priests, wondering why so charming a woman as Ella Wheeler Wilcox was not a Catholic, she retorted by saying: "I wonder two such fine looking men as you don't marry."

—As a toilet article, Ayer's Hair Vigor stands unrivaled. It cleanses the scalp and removes dandruff, cures itching humors, restores the original color to faded and gray hair, and promotes its growth.

—The Pioche Record says: Some of our residents have just remembered that ten years ago a band of gypsies arrived in Pioche, and the old dame who told fortunes then stated that there would not be any prosperity in Pioche until the year 1888.

—No other Spring medicine has won for itself such universal confidence as Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It is the most powerful combination of vegetable alternatives ever offered to the public, and is acknowledged by the medical profession to be the best blood purifier.

—A young man, recently married, suggested to his wife that they should argue some question frankly and fully every morning. The first question happened to be "whether a woman could be expected to get along without a hat." He took the affirmative, and when last seen had climbed into a hay-loft and was pulling the ladder up after him.

Playfully Shot by His Brother.

Chicago, Feb. 22.—Charles Holton, son of C. C. Holton, a prominent and wealthy furniture dealer, was fatally wounded this morning by his younger brother, Ethan Allen Holton. Fear of burglars induced Charles to purchase a revolver, which he kept under his pillow. When the boys were dressing this morning Ethan took the weapon and playfully pointed it at his brother. It was accidentally discharged, the bullet entering the breast of Charles. Physicians say he cannot live.

THE PROSPECT WELL.

A Continued Public Interest Manifested.

People who come up from San Francisco all speak of the great interest manifested down there over the result of boring the prospect well to ascertain what is to be found in the ledge recently discovered North of this city. The well is now down nearly 200 feet, and the borers hard at work. The slowest progress made was on Wednesday, when they encountered a very tough cement formation, and it was with the greatest difficulty that the pipe could be driven down. Several times the drill stuck fast and delayed the work. They only made nine feet during the day. In that time there was not ten minutes that visitors were not there watching the boring.

Several ladies drove out in a rockaway and filled their handkerchiefs with sand from the well, which they took away to have assayed, not knowing that it was worthless.

The cement stratum was passed through about 4 o'clock, and since then the formation has been a tough yellow clay. The locating and jumping of claims still goes on. The boys have caught the fever, and scores of young kids go out and solemnly locate granite ledges and slate croppings, and jump old claims, never seeming to realize that the acts of anyone under 21 are null and void.

Duffy the foreman of the North Carson still grimly holds the lower tunnel and says that he has water, guns, and rations and defies the earth. Messrs. Culp and West of the V. & T. R. R. office attempted to locate 1,500 feet of Marion Little's ranch on Sunday but were driven off by the irate farmer, who pitched their location stakes over the fence and announced that he owned the agricultural land to the center of the earth. Schultz invites locators to come on his land provided they will bore prospect holes. The more the merrier.

Was He Poisoned?

On Monday last, W. D. Gray, an old and respected citizen of Genoa, narrowly escaped being poisoned.

He has a blacksmith-shop on Main street, and had a cup of water on the shelf near the door of the shop. He had been working for some time, and stopped to take a drink of water. The water tasted bitter, and upon examining it he found crystals, not yet dissolved, in the bottom of the cup. Drs. Williams and Young examined the water, and pronounced the crystals strychnine. Quite a lot of strychnine was found on the edge of the cup.

A warrant has been issued for the arrest of Zach Field, Mr. Gray's son-in-law, who is strongly suspected of being the would-be poisoner. He has been acting strangely for some time, and a strong case can be made against him. Field's wife is teaching school at Fairview, Douglas county, and it is thought Field has gone there. He left town about noon and the Sheriff is still after him.

A Funny Sight.

The juvenile tricycle club make a funny appearance on the street. About a dozen little youngsters from four to nine years old glide down Main Street, and is headed by Herbert Yerington on a regular "two wheeler."

Some of the machines have not been oiled this season and they creak and groan as the boys almost work their legs off to get them along. The people on the side-walk stop to enjoy the fun and encourage the boys. They are too much engaged to notice it and neither look to the right nor left.

The Most Agreeable

As well as the most effective method of dispelling Headaches, Colds, and Fevers, or Cleansing the System, is by taking a few doses of the pleasant California liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs. For sale by Geo. C. Thaxter, agent.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castor.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castor.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castor.
When she had Children, she gave them Castor.

A GIFTED "CRANK."

Locating Gas Wells by a Tickling in the Throat.

BRADFORD (Pa.) February 22.—Chet Boogher is a character well known in the gas and oil regions as the "Gas-Well-Crank." Boogher has long declared that he could locate gas territory simply by walking over the ground. If gas existed there, it would instantly make its presence known to him, he said, by affecting him with a strange tickling and choking sensation in the throat. For years he tried to impress natural gas operators with the importance of this gift of his, but only succeeded in gaining the reputation of being a harmless, but annoying crank.

A few weeks ago he turned up in the Ohio gas and oil fields and it seems that he induced some parties to believe that the gas could be found on a tract near Delphos. The tract generally was regarded as entirely barren of both oil and gas. Boogher declared that it was all he could do to walk over the tract in question because of the suffering he experienced from the gas under-ground. He took parties to the place and walked with them over the tract. He was ill in appearance and nearly choked to death while crossing the field.

The parties resolved to spend some money in testing the territory entirely on the strength of Boogher's choking. A well was drilled last Wednesday. It struck a vein of gas. The well was torpedoed and responded with a flow of more than 5,000,000 feet of gas a day.

Boogher is a lion in that region and overwhelmed with applications for his services in "choking" gas territory.

His gift for locating gas by suffocation bids fair to be worth more to him than a big gas well itself would.

To Change the Time of Relocating.

Free Press: We understand that Senator Stewart is about to introduce a bill changing the time of relocating claims from the first of January to the first of July of each year. This is an excellent move, and one that will be duly appreciated by thousands of prospectors all over the Coast. As the law now stands a prospector takes his life in his hands almost every time he goes to relocate a claim, especially during a New Year day like the last one. Most of the claims are found on high mountain ranges, and when they are covered with deep snow and the thermometer 40 to 50 degrees below zero, it is kind of risky business.

Infamous Work.

Boston, Feb. 22.—The House Committee on Labor yesterday gave a hearing to Mrs. Charlotte Smith and others on charges that several intelligence offices were sending girls seeking employment to the house of ill-fame. Mrs. Smith charged Inspector Burleigh with being in league with the intelligence offices and knowing their abominable business. She submitted fifty written statements (several sworn) of women being sent as charged. These girls were sent out as servants, seamstresses, etc., and some of them were sent to other cities.

Syrup of Figs

Is Nature's true laxative. It is the most easily taken, and the most effective remedy known to cleanse the System when Bilious or Costive; to dispel Headaches, Colds, and Fevers; to Cure Habitual Constipation, Indigestion, Piles, etc. Manufactured only by the California Fig Syrup Company, San Francisco, Cal. For sale by George C. Thaxter, agent Carson.

—Wells Drury, more commonly known as "The Dull Thud," has written an interview with himself and contrived to get it inserted in a Kansas City paper. He facetiously remarks that the trade mark of the editor of the APPEAL is a bull. With his fine aptitude for getting things mixed he has confounded us with the "Blackwell Durham Tobacco Company."

A bull is much superior to a carpet sack as a trade mark. Mr. Drury's envy of the magnificent animal is a matter of regret to us.
